Dedication . . .

We, the students of Bourne High School, respectfully dedicate this yearbook to the memory of Carol Swift whose untimely passing has left in our hearts a void. AS "star reporter," my assignment this year was to cover the Senior Class of Bourne High. Quite an assignment, but quite a class!

My first story of the year was election day. I found that the safest place to be was hanging from the chandeliers of the study hall. In this way I found that Ronnie Bassett was president; Bob Cahoon, vice-president; Crys Campbell, treasurer and Winnie Jones, secretary.

After that episode I vowed I would resign but I couldn't help going to the Senior Class Play to see all those Brandos and Hepburns put on that hilarious play, "The Babbling Brooks."

Second row: K. Cannon, C. George, M. Tripp, D. Spectre, W. Jones, H. Curry, E. Crowell, J. Dill, B. Bosnengo, F. Pina, R. Demers.

Third row: P. Cardoza, J. Boles, R. Bassett, M. Harding, R. Merchant, C. Cardoza.

All year long the athletes among the seniors provided me with much interesting copy. My football reports showed Ronnie Bassett, Barry Girard, Harry Curry and Paul Cardoza fighting for the Purple and White.

When basketball season rolled around I was furious when I got hit by a basketball. It almost knocked me out of a job. But all was forgiven when I realized it was the Senior girls—Patsy Medeiros, Marcia Sorenti, Alice Rigazio and Donna Spectre. In addition to the girls on the team Crys Campbell and Joan Ojala were team managers and two of their classmates, Mary Ann Bernabei and Sandra Long were on the cheerleading squad.

Then I was hit again by a basketball. This time I was even more furious, for Bob Cahoon, Peter Mackesy and Elbert Pipkins were not as pretty as the girls.

Other events I had to cover were: election of Ronnie Bassett as student government representative, Winifred Jones winning the D.A.R. Award, Joan Ojala winning the Betty Crocker and Bausch and Lomb Awards, and the Honor Society induction with senior members, Bob Merchant, Mary Ann Bernabei, Crys Campbell, Joan Ojala, Marcia Sorenti, Winnie Jones, and Patsy Medeiros, the latter two inducted in January.

After following the Seniors to New York and Washington, then coming home to capture the happiness of graduated Seniors with their much coveted diplomas, my job was done. It has been quite an assignment, but I hope that in my reporting I have been able to catch a bit of the hopes and joys of a wonderful year in the lives of the Class of '58.

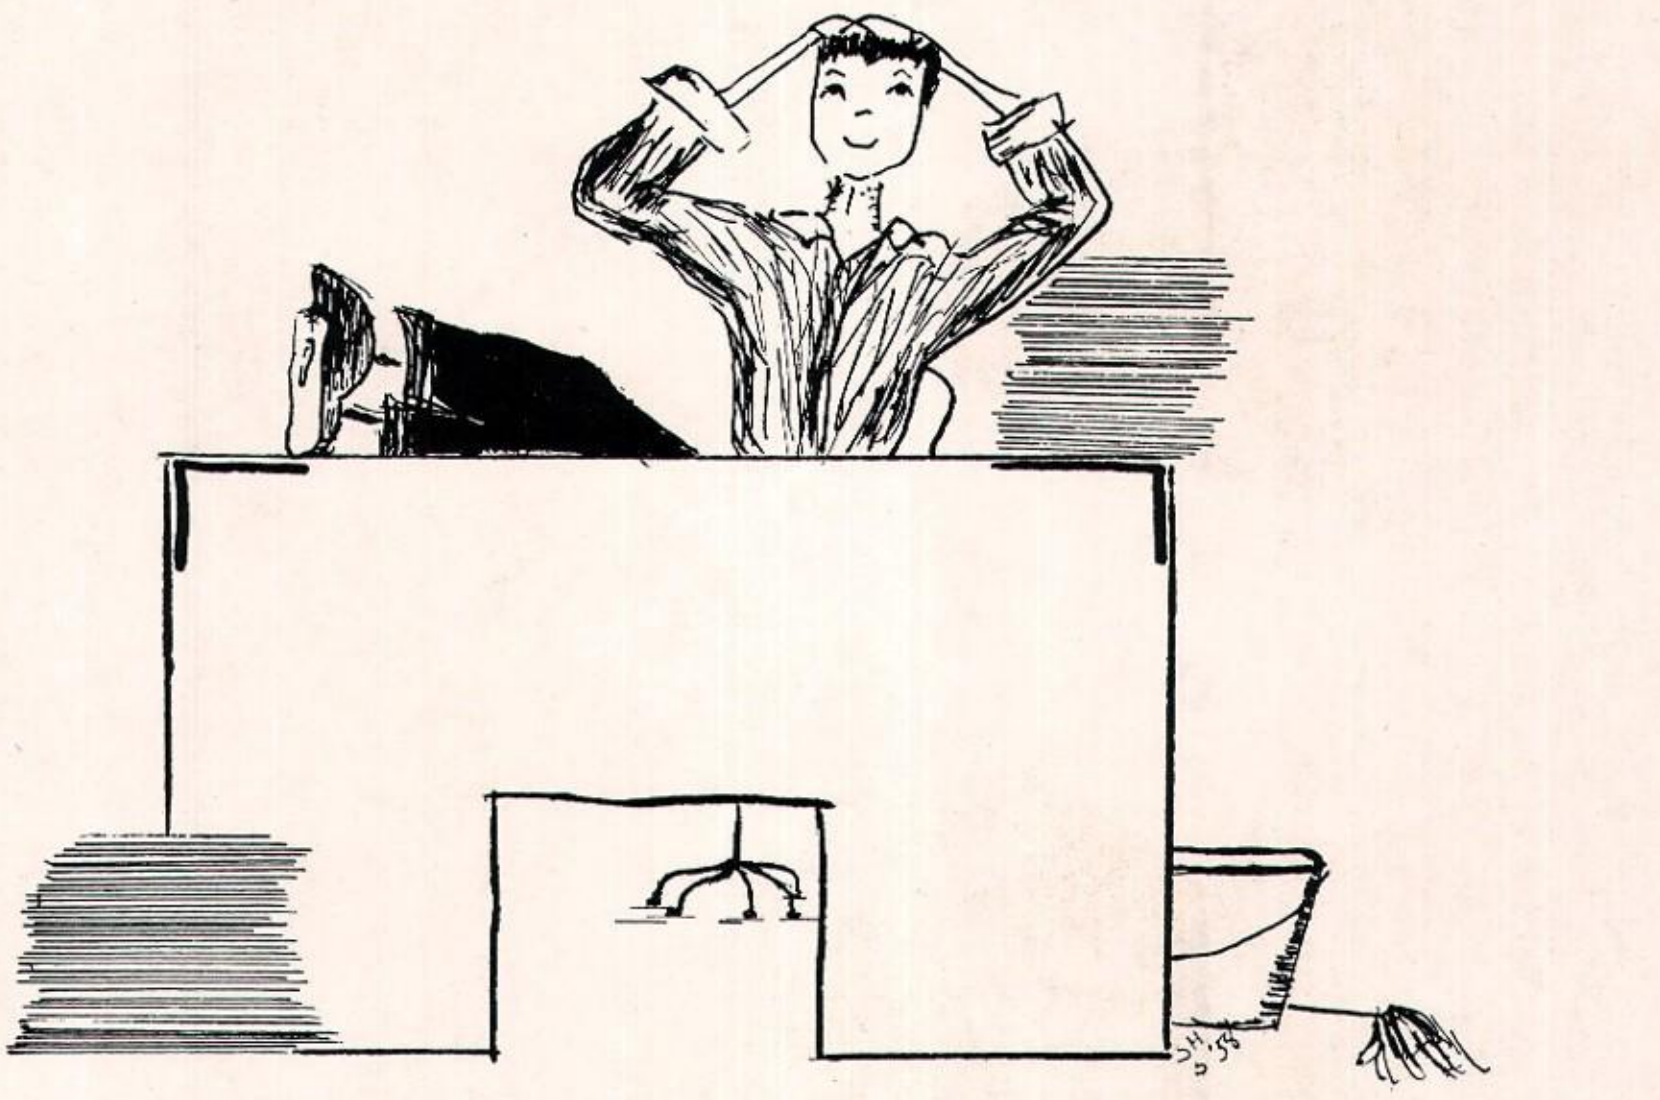
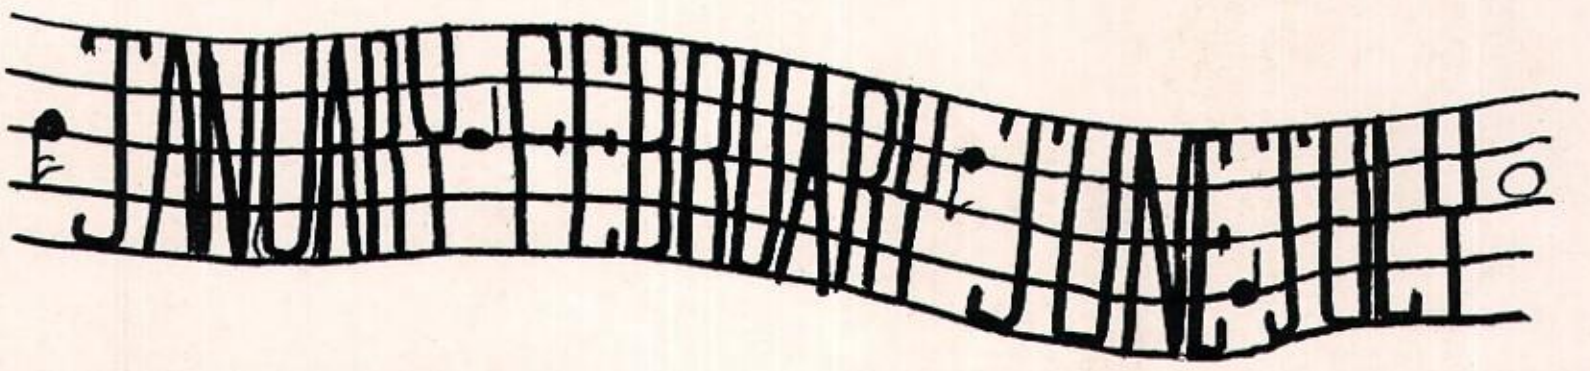
Administration





Mr. Wilfred H. Graves, Superintendent of Schools

To The Graduates

From The Superintendent...

THE pillars of a Democracy are dependent upon the education of its people. With this in mind, you have been accumulating specialized information and technical skills.

Every effort has been made to help you develop clear thinking, uninfluenced by prejudice of any nature, to be sensitive to the welfare of others, and to be tolerant of all classes, creeds and races.

There is a Latin phrase, "Tuem Est." which translated means, "It is up to you."

It is up to you to demonstrate that a united, a courageous, and an enlightened youth will preserve the principles of our Democracy.

WILFRED H. GRAVES
Superintendent of Schools

Mr. Walter J. Stahura, Principal

From The Principal...

RARELY in the history of our great country has opportunity beckoned to educated people with such a compelling force. Perhaps more than ever before education is being placed in its rightful position of substantial stature by world events, the trends of our times, the progress, especially during the past fifty years, in the variety of fields of human endeavor, and by the recognition of its own intrinsic worth.

It would appear, therefore, that a pupil with the ability to learn, who fails to apply and develop that ability to its utmost, robs himself of many of the riches of life's offerings, cheats himself to the joys resulting from intellectual curiosity and oftentimes penalizes himself in his search for a vocation. In effect this pupil becomes his own greatest enemy.

Reading, more than any other single factor exerts the greatest influence upon academic success, in the high school, in higher education, and in jobs. Reading in itself is insufficient, but when coupled with accurate comprehension of written materials, together they open an avenue which leads to deeper and broader understandings of not only factual knowledge but concepts and philosophies. Upon these things, then, rests our future. Let us then, read and read some more!

WALTER J. STAHURA
Principal

Mr. John Gray advises student.

Guidance

UNDER the direction of Mr. John Gray, future college aspirants receive helpful advice on the many problems of college entrance. In his office, which contains pamphlets and introductory folders on every college from Alabama to Yale, Mr. Gray coaches and aids the students of Bourne in selecting their course of study in high school.

In addition, he further enlightens the students on which schools are best suited to their individual ambitions. Through various aptitude tests, Mr. Gray obtains a record on every student in the school, which serves to make future plans.

Secretaries

TO keep the administration running smoothly, the staff of secretaries in the office performs all the necessary clerical work for Mr. Stahura, Mr. Graves, and keeps accounts for the various class activity funds. Class treasurers poring over cash books with Mrs. Dvorski, Mr. Graves dictating to Mrs. Holland, or Mr. Stahura giving notices to Mrs. Nichols are common sights in the office on a busy morning.

Working "behind the scenes" the secretaries keep the school correspondence and clerical work well in hand and progressing smoothly.

Familiar faces in the office: Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Holland.

Custodians

THIS year at Bourne High saw a change in the faces behind the brooms. Chick Burns, one of our two janitors, had a change in assignments to join Cliff Fougere doing maintenance work on all the schools. Red Burns, our other regular janitor, had the misfortune of hurting his back, preventing him from working. Taking Red's place was Jerry Downing, always glad to open a stuck locker or replace a light bulb.

Since the job of keeping our schools clean and shining is such a large one, afternoons saw Paul Cardoza coming into school to give Jerry a hand.

Much praise belongs to these custodians who keep our school looking neat and clean, giving us all just cause to be proud of the job they do.

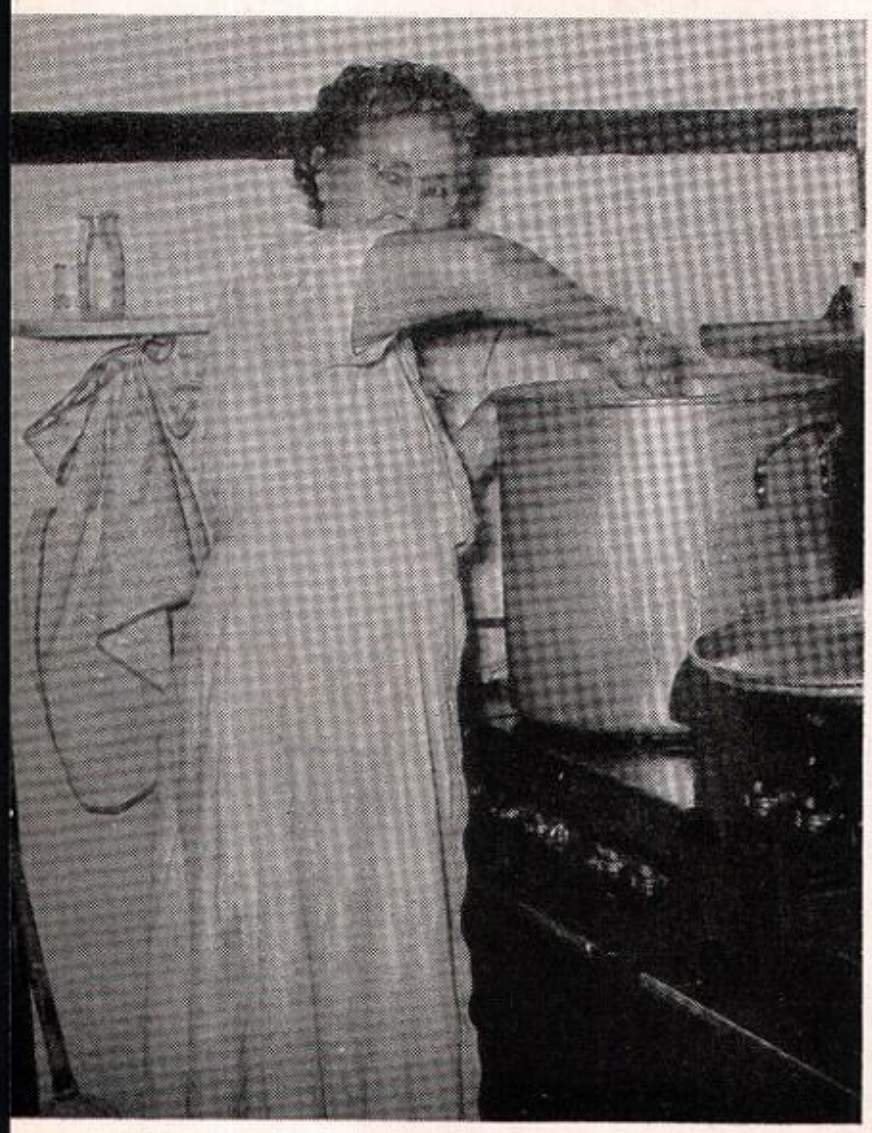
Cafeteria



THE bell ringing at 11:15 a.m. signals close to three hundred hungry students to storm the lunch room in four waves. One has to give the cooks credit for their speed and efficiency in filling orders and their patience with those "two scoop" people who hold up the line.

Considering the fact that the entire student body was served a whole meal within fifteen minutes, the cooks' good-natured dispositions certainly should be appreciated.

The ever-present battle for "going first to lunch" and the clock-watchers who wait for the hands to creep through fourth period pay silent tribute to the role the cooks play in our daily school schedule.

Canal Currents

ANNUAL publication of Canal Currents, Bourne High's yearbook, gives the journalistically inclined students a chance to participate in a large organized project.

Since this effort is undertaken only once a year, those who help in its production pour much time and energy into this one project. There were high-pressure advertising salesmen like Elbert Pipkins, Norman Bayes and Robert Merchant out scouring the businessmen of the town for finances. While the actual planning of the book went on, anyone who could type was recruited for afternoon sessions to supplement regulars like Donna Spectre and Eleanor Stahura.

As these typists busily pounded the keys, the editorial staff composed of Crystal Campbell, Joan Ojala and Merchant, was at work writing copy, pasting pictures, or arguing over the color of the book's cover. Deeply buried in Off in a corner, Faculty Adviser Mr. Jones would be discussing the financial situation in worried tones with Stephen Lawless and Neil Minihan, Canal Currents' financial wizards. Other hard workers who contributed to the book were Sports Editor Bayes, Judy Kelley, who wrote the dedication and helped with typing, and Mary Ann Bernabei, editor of the Senior section.

Senior Class Play

ON November 22, the annual Senior Class Play was presented by the class of '58. "The Babbling Brooks", a comedy in three acts by Kurtz Gordon, was produced before a pleased audience, left chuckling at the comical situations and their complications.

The production, under the expert direction of Mrs. Ralph Kiniry, assisted by student director, Robert Merchant, was very successful.

The babbling Brooks family included Nettie, a talkative woman with little regard for fact, played by Marcia Sorenti; Betty, a teenager with an active but mischievous mind, played by Carol Cook; Norma, the only straight-thinking member of the family, played by Donna Spectre; Granny, a quiet little old lady, portrayed by Patricia Medeiros; and Homer, a victim of the love bug, homework and mother's errands, a role handled by Peter Mackesy. Robert Cahoon donned a sheriff's uniform to take the role of Hal Weston. Madge Moore, a little teenager with a big crush was played by Mary Ann Bernabei, and Kay Cornwell, the most confused person not in the Pentagon, was portrayed by Crystal Campbell. Tommy Landers and Jim Boles provided the male half of the teenage group. Rita Turner and Joan Ojala were cast as a pair of TV writers, while Dorothy Mahoney played Bonnie Burns, an ace reporter, and Donna Small appeared as Bessie Horton, an irate neighbor.

The costumes and properties, from pie to perfume, were in the hands of Winifred Jones, while the Brooks' living room was expertly constructed by Junior boys, Jerry Bell, Warren Philbrick and David Small.

Thus the seniors made their successful dramatic "debut", after many weeks of hard work (and fun, too) at rehearsals.

National Honor Society

SCHOLARSHIP, the key to the golden treasure of knowledge; Character, that which is good and true; Leadership, the ability to guide others into action; and Service, the free giving of one's time and effort; these are the attributes in which one must be found proficient for membership in the National Honor Society.

At the Winter Induction ceremony of the James F. Peebles Chapter, President Robert Merchant, with Guide Mary Ann Bernabei; Scholarship, Joan Ojala; Character, Crystal Campbell; Leadership and Service, Marcia Sorenti; and Faculty Advisor, Mr. Jones, inducted new members Winifred Jones, Patricia Medeiros, Janice Willey, Neil Minihan, Stephen Lawless, George Tomlinson and Thomas Gallerani.

As senior members leave to seek new heights of wisdom, those remaining will bear on the light of all learning with honor and truth.

Athletic Association

COKE, Chips 'n' Orange! That's the cry given by the 17 members of the industrious group known as the Athletic Association when they see the crowd coming "at the half" of all athletic functions.

Led by President Mary Ann Bernabei, Vice-President Joan Ojala, Secretary Crys Campbell and Treasurer Neil Minihan, the members, including Winnie Jones, Patsy Medeiros, Kathy Cannon, Charlotte George, Judy Duggan, Donna Spectre, Jim Boles, Elbert Pipkins, Betty Boles, Ann Pippin, George Tomlinson, Evelyn Mendes and Lorraine Barrows have successfully combined a year's program of work and play. This year's "play" consisted of a bus trip to Providence to enjoy a performance of the Ice Capades.

The successful year was made possible through the guidance offered by the faculty adviser, Mr. Butler.

Key Club

THE Key Club, junior counterpart of the Kiwanis Club, has carried on an active program of service in the past year. To head their organization, Bob Cahoon was elected president with Elbert Pipkins to assist him, Arthur Watt, secretary and Ronald Bassett, treasurer. Under the guidance of their adviser, Mr. Herbert Nickerson, and in cooperation with the Kiwanis, the Key Clubbers took charge of one entire Kiwanis meeting, had several members at each of the other weekly meetings and sold tickets for their underpriviledged children's show. The boys showed an avid interest in food; serving refreshments at the Special Town Meeting, and the P. T. A. Show; and providing oranges for the basketball players. There were also paper drives, a benefit basketball game for the Heart Fund, and interclub meetings to round out their year's program of activities.

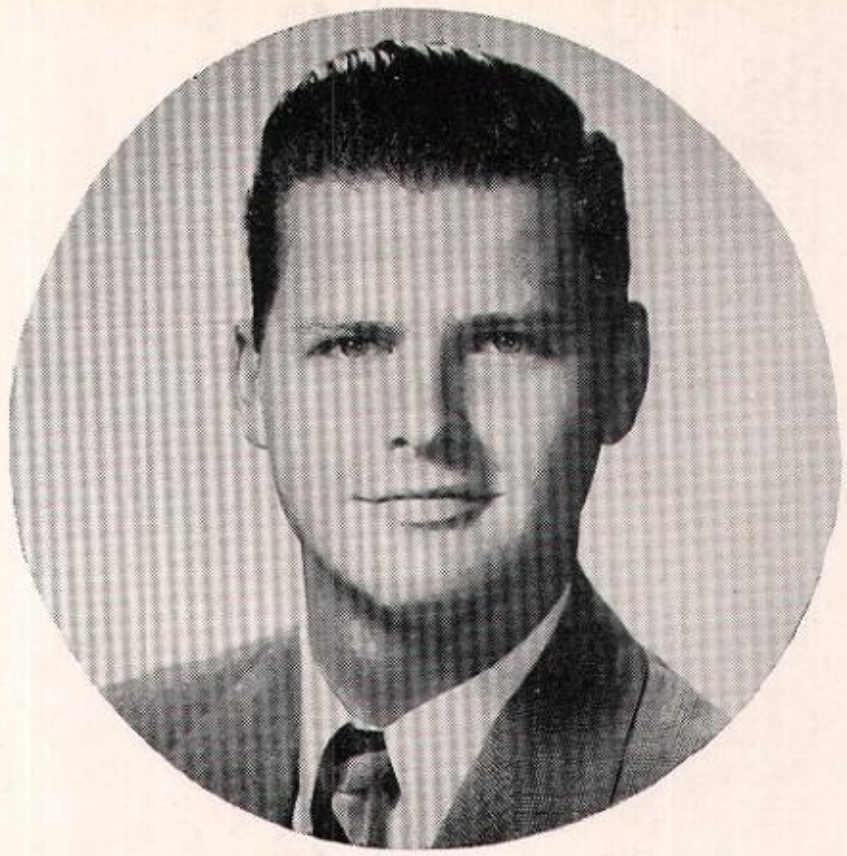
Driver Training

Eager eyes give engine the once over.

RIGHT turn, left turn, Stop! Sixty more eager drivers-to-be reported to driver training class to become acquainted with the intricacies of gears and carburetors and all the rest that goes to make up Mr. Butler's course. After twelve weeks of Thursday morning classroom sessions and six hours of practice driving negotiating turns, hills, and "turn-arounds" the students await the arrival of "the Inspector" and nervously go out for their examination. Most have then become the proud possessors of their "pink slips", enabling them to take the wheel of a car to drive with safety and courtesy.

Music at Bourne



Chorus

PERPETUATING the fine art of vocal harmony, some eighty students, comprising the Special Chorus under the direction of Music Supervisor, Mr. Carlton Thorne, meet every Thursday morning to further expand and polish their repertoire. This year they covered a wide range of tunes. Christmas numbers were perfected for performances at the Junior Christmas Party, the P-TA Christmas Show and the annual caroling tour, while pieces in a more serious mood were done for the Honor Society Induction ceremony. Some of the members of the chorus participated in the Cape Cod Music Festival held in May.

At graduation in June, the members of the Special Chorus and the large Mixed Chorus climax their weeks of musical endeavor by blending their voices to produce one final and perfect note.

Band

DOWN at Bourne Grammar School every Thursday evening about seven o'clock one could find a group of about 40 people and a variety of instruments from drums to clarinets and trombones. Put them all together and you had the Shawme School Band.

On many a cold day they were out playing for the football games as well as the big Thanksgiving game pep rally.

The band participated along with the other musical groups in the Christmas Music Show at the High School for the benefit of the instrumental fund.

Along with the other concerts given, the band climaxed the year by marching in the Memorial Day Parade.

Within the band our band club again was formed. The officers elected were Duane Reynolds, president; Richard Canning, vice president; Claire Dainty, secretary; and Ann Wagner, treasurer. One main project for the year was the purchase of a banner.

Junior Prom

No more room on the floor.

BACK in the cold month of February, 1957, the Class of '58 started warming up to the idea of their Junior Prom. This was the big project of the year and after presentation of many ideas and much deliberation the theme, "Mexicana" was decided upon. After that every afternoon and many evenings the various committees took on a sudden interest in the land 'south of the border' and started to come up with archways, red roses, and colorful posters advertising the event.

When the evening in May finally arrived the gym had been transformed into a Mexican hacienda complete with rose-covered archways and a patio centered with a sparkling fountain. The few short hours of this, the big social event of the year, in preparation for so many months, sped by so fast that it seemed almost unbelieveable.

The evening was climaxed by a grand march and the crowning of Dorothy Mahoney as Queen of the Junior Prom.

Time to sample the punch.

A new queen is crowned.

Camera Club

THIS year brought something new, the Camera Club, to the extracurricular scene for anyone who wished to learn about photography. For a long time the darkroom had been used for nothing but storage; then Mr. Levinson, himself a shurterbug, noticed the absence of people, with a few exceptions, using the darkroom. Mr. Levinson announced that a new club would be formed. The response was gratifying, with about twelve members at the beginning. Later on the membership boiled down to six or seven regular members. The club held elections the second meeting and Bob Merchant was elected president with Stanley Jacobs vice-president, Faith Haskins secretary and Dick Sanford as treasurer.

Office Girls

FOR each period of the day a girl was chosen from the study hall to assist Mr. Stahura, Mr. Graves, and the secretaries. These "junior secretaries" learn office efficiency which is valuable experience to girls interested in secretarial work.

The office girls can be found at their desk in the outer office, delivering various messages around the school, cleaning out the supply closet, or getting valuable advice from "Dot" and "Shirley." While Mr. Stahura and the secretaries lunch, one of the junior secretaries manages the entire office, answering telephone calls and writing out messages.

Pep Rallies

DURING the football season, the pep rallies played an important part in firing up the spirit of the team and students.

Each Friday one regular period was omitted and the rally held during the time allotted to 7th period. Every student would know of the period omitted as soon as the notice slips were sent out. At the 1:20 bell, 285 students would flood the gym floor, and fill the bleachers in a matter of 45 seconds. The next 40 minutes were filled with noise and cheers which rocked the hall.

Mr. Gray livens up the proceedings in the year's first rally.

WHEW! I've just got time to tell you about one jampacked year here at Bourne High while I catch my breath. Boy, have we been busy!

Let's see now, where to begin? As I remember it, I was just getting into the feel of summer vacation when I heard the ol' bells ringing from atop that pinnacle of knowledge, known to us insiders as Bourne High.

It was the third year for most of us, and boy were we happy to see one another after so long. There were so many things to talk about that a whole week had zipped by before I realized that our new advisers were Mr. Laughton and Mr. Cleary, a newcomer this year, and we did all that we could to "break him in".

We started off our business for the year by re-electing Neil Minihan as our class president with Tom Gallerani as vice-president. Ann Pippin was given the charge of the secretary's books and Judy Kelley was made our treasurer. In just a few days we were out selling everything conceivable for our class trip to Washington—pens, candy, you name it!

Soon from afar the kindly voice of jolly Old Saint Nick was to be heard bringing the announcement from Mr. Laughton that we should start thinking about our annual Christmas party. And did we think! All over the school, Juniors could be seen—thinking. The party was a big success visited by Santa himself.

Returning from our Christmas vacation, we embarked upon our plans for a paper drive.

Soon throughout the town of Bourne, trucks driven by Juniors were to be seen grabbing paper everywhere. All agreed that the drive was a lot of fun and a worth while experience as well.

As for now? What are we doing? Jeepers, I didn't know I'd been so long. I had better get going. Where did you say? To the Prom of course, be seeing you.

AS the sophomores entered school on the first day a feeling of satisfaction and joy prevailed. They were the bosses of the first floor, or of the freshmen.

Their class advisor was Miss Pellagrino, new to the faculty. The class staged a pep-rally which was quite humorous.

Getting down to business, they elected their class officers: President, Robert Anderson; Vice-president, Kenneth Crommett; Secretary, Blanche Burgess; and in charge of the treasury, June DeForest. They were quite well represented in sports with Phil Cunningham, Ed Watt, Phil Burgess and Bob Anderson playing football and Louis Pasquale and Ed Watt out on the basketball court. The girls' basketball roster showed Eleanor Stahura, Lorraine Barrows, Rose Rigazio and Margo Fitzgerald on the first team and Vicki Mitchell, Theresa Rigazio, Linda Gallerani, Faith Haskins and Elaine Mallinson battling for the second team's victories. Sophomore cheerleaders were June DeForest, Frances Bernabei, Janice Crosby and Carol Gibbons.

Eager to become upperclassmen, they anxiously awaited the moment when they would order their class rings, to return next fall, finally on the top floor.

DURING the school year of 1957-58, the freshmen experienced a quantity of blood-curdling confusion. They were a mob, shocked at first, confused, then dazed. Although they had only one complete mob call-together, the frosh formed two clubs. This system kept the information traveling through the gang—an unnecessary precaution, though, since telling the girls got the news around.

One club presented a money-taking "Sock Hop". This seemed to have some effect on the class, since they were still dancing in school the next day.

The frosh tried their hand at a newspaper. Information wasn't too plentiful, but if they couldn't find news, they created it themselves.

A few other brain-rattling projects were a "Snow-Ball" dance with a cat from New Bedford to roll the records all over the place, and a "T-shirt" project. Other small projects kept them well out of the way of the upperclassmen.

FOOTBALL at Bourne in 1957 saw a complete change take place with a new coaching staff, new uniforms, and many new team members from the ranks of the underclassmen. New head coach Lucien Bachand installed an entire new system which Bourne used with considerable success throughout the season.

Since graduation hit the Purple hard, tough sledding was the rule last Fall. After a good start, the superior size and know-how of the opponents began to tell. Even though the Bourne gridders suffered through a three-game losing streak, they still displayed plenty of hustle.

Senior Gridders: Pepper Harding, Harry Curry, Ronald Bassett.

Provincetown 6 Bourne 20

Playing against larger opponents, Bourne rolled to a solid 20-6 win over a tough P-Town eleven in the season opener. Sophomore Phil Cunningham had the honor of scoring the first touchdown of the year. This was quickly followed by two tallies by Phil and Harry Curry.

Weston 6 Bourne 0

Playing against a heavier Weston eleven, Bourne went down to a hard-fought defeat after controlling the ball virtually throughout the first half. A bad pass from center set up the Weston score late in the game.

Phil Cunningham fades to pass against the Dartmouth Green.

Falmouth 6 Bourne 18

Playing the first night game in the school's history, Bourne ground out a solid win over a tough Falmouth team. Sparked by the running of Phil Cunningham and Phil Curry. Bourne, after a scoreless first half tooks wings on Phil Curry's passing arm in the third quarter and rolled the rest of the way easily scoring all three touchdowns in the second half. Falmouth could do little against the Bourne line. Constant fumble recoveries by Purple defenders kept the pressure on throughout the contest. Cunningham scored two, and Curry one, to account for the three tallies.

Dartmouth 24 Bourne 7

After leading 7-6 at half time, the Purple Wave finally had to succumb to its biggest opponents of the year by a 24-7 margin. Bourne had walked off the field with a 7-6 half-time lead, thanks to a 25 yard pass play from Phil Curry to Phil Cunningham. Bob Pipkins scored the extra point. As the third period unfolded, Dartmouth's line began to wear the lighter Bourne team down, and they finally broke the game open with two quick third period touchdowns and added the clincher in the waning moments of the game.

Yarmouth 13 Bourne 0

Using a very effective nine man line, Yarmouth scored a solid 13-0 victory over the Purple Wave. Bourne was unable to get an offense going and the Regionals capitalized by scoring early in the first period and adding another tally late in the game.

Plymouth 25 Bourne 0

Playing on a rain soaked field Bourne absorbed its second shutout in succession. Plymouth scored early in the first period after a sustained drive and added another in the second quarter on an 85-yard run. Again Bourne had trouble getting its offense rolling against the big Plymouth forward wall.

Dighton 7 Bourne 13

Using the "T" formation exclusively for the first time this season, Bourne finally hit its stride in knocking off Dighton 13-7. Fumbles cost Bourne heavily in the final half, and an alert Dighton team left the field with a 7-0 halftime edge.

The second half was an entirely different story. Dighton failed to penetrate Bourne territory while the Purple put on continuous drives, only to have fumbles check them at the goal line. The Canalmen weren't to be denied for long, and they pushed across two scores, one by Ron Harding, and the other by Phil Curry.

Wareham 25 Bourne 0

In the traditional Thanskgiving game Wareham rolled to a 25-0 win on the passing arm of Tom Eccleston. Bourne repeatedly thwarted Wareham's ground drives only to have the Blue strike swiftly through the air.

After holding a 7-0 lead at the half, the highly touted Wareham eleven took to the air and found smooth sailing the rest of the way.

After giving a good impression of things to come in the Cape Basketball Preview, Bourne got the season off on the right foot by walloping little Sandwich High by a 76-21 count. After vacation the Purple and White played its first league game with Falmouth High on the Bourne hardwood. With both clubs playing sloppy ball, Bourne took the lead and held it throughout the contest, winning by a solid 12 point margin, 67-55.

After topping Orleans 48-47 in perhaps the most spectacular game of the season, Bourne returned to Large School League play with a 61-56 trouncing of tough Dennis-Yarmouth.

Extending its winning streak to seven games with three easy wins over Sandwich, Wellfleet, and Barnstable, Bourne traveled to the Cape-tip to play the big game of the season with P-town, on their treacherous court. When the smoke of battle had cleared, Bourne emerged victorious to the tune of 47-40. Again Bob Cahoon led the way, snaring 20 rebounds and garnering 21 points, 10 of which came in the final quarter.

After the P-town clash, Bourne suffered its first defeat of the season at the hands of a strong Case High of Swansea team. However, the Canalmen resumed their winning ways with a solid 52-39 trouncing of always dangerous Falmouth.

Bourne qualified for Tech Tournament play by downing Dennis-Yarmouth, 73-58, and rolling easily over Wellfleet, 63-43. In the final week of the season Bourne won the remaining two games, beating Barnstable 58-46 and defeating arch rival Provincetown by a 58-51 count, to capture the Large School League Championship with a perfect 8-0 record.

In the first game of the Principal's Tournament Bourne had to stave off a third period Harwich rally to win going away, 57-43. The finals of the Tournament saw Bourne lose its most heartbreaking game in several seasons as a last second basket on the part of Orleans gave the Cardinals the ball game and the Cape Championship, 52-51.

The Purple drew a first round bye and played its first game in the Tech Tourney against a strong quintet from Wayland. Fouls hurt the Canalmen in the fourth period and Wayland built up a substantial lead to win 62-53.

Although the Purple didn't fare well in tournament play, they established a season record that will be hard to equal. The Canalmen beat every team on the Cape and suffered only one regular season loss at the hands of powerful Case. Scoring honors for the year went to Bob Cahoon, who amassed a total of 377 points for an average of 22.2 points per game which broke the school record for total points and per game average. This Bourne club was one that people can look back on in remembrance of a great team.

UNDER new coach Miss Kathleen Sullivan, the girls' team started off the season with a three game winning streak, then tapered off, ending up with a 4-win, 8-lost record.

The girls looked forward to starting off the season with the new and peppy coach, "Kitty" Sullivan, who many times had been mistaken for one of the girls.

The season ended with a very nice party at Miss Sullivan's, which all of the girls attended and enjoyed.

Cheerleaders

AT eight football games and 17 basketball games with pep rallies and tournament games added to the schedule, the purple skirts and the yelling voices of the cheerleaders were always present to spur Bourne onward to victory. Betty Neal, Mary Ann Bernabei, Janice Crosby, Sandra Long, Virginia Peebles, Kathleen McComiskey, June DeForest and Frances Bernabei started off the season, with Betty Boles and Carol Gibbons joining the squad later.

Whether shivering in the cold of the night football game at Falmouth or sweating out the finals of the Basketball Tourney, these girls were able to keep the spirit and the noise pitched to a high level.

Since games are not won by skill alone, but also by teamwork and the intangible quality of spirit, the support given the players by the cheerleaders was a most important part in the success of our athletic program.

Baseball

LATE in March, one of the smallest turnouts in years greeted Coach Lou Bachand for baseball tryouts. Due to inclement weather, much of the practicing during the first week was confined to the gym. Naturally this wreaked havoc with the pre-season practice schedule, leaving only a short time before the first game.

Composing this years squad were infielders Bob Cahoon, Bob Driscoll, Pete Mackesy, Rod Valentini and Bob Boffetti, catchers Paul Cardoza and Ron Jones, among the outfielders were John Duggan, Bob Merchant, Larry Weston and Ralph Tripp. Pitchers were Don Dodd, Phil Cunningham, and Norman Bayes.

Undercurrents

THE 1958 CANAL CURRENTS was printed by the Kendall Printing Company of Falmouth, Massachusetts, on Printflex stock with text in Garamond type. Photography was done by the Purdy Studio of Boston and Robert Merchant.

We, the staff, express our sincerest appreciation to the following people who gave so freely of their time and effort to aid us in the publication of this yearbook:

Mr. Robert Kendall, our printer, for his timely suggestions and his patience with our errors.

Mr. John McNamara and his associates of Purdy's for their great contribution to our photography.

Mr. Walter Stahura, principal, guide and friend.

Our patrons and advertisers who provided the financial support necessary for the publication of the book.
